Sickle Cell (African American) _____

Thalassemia (Greek/Italian) ___x___

Tay-Sach's (Jewish) _____

How would you describe your personality and temperament? I am strong and assertive, but extremely sensitive and compassionate. I am the one that people would mention when describing the glue that holds the family together. I am ambitious and have a zest for life, but I always have my priorities straight. My nature is passionate and loving, but not gullible. I never see two sides rather all that lies in the middle and that has served me well (this seems conceited, what a thing to have to write, you should just ask people that know me ☺)

What is your philosophy of life? Life is too short; I do everything I can do with the fullest dedication. Live learn, love and repeat the cycle!

What qualities and characteristics would you hope the recipient parents possess? First and foremost I want the potential parents to have a strong love for each other; I do not want to contribute to a child being brought up in a cold environment.

How does it make you feel at the possibility of their offspring knowing about the donation? That is a personal decision for the child's parents, hoping they keep the best interest of the child/ren in mind. I am open to all different ideas.

How would you describe your childhood? I was told I have an old soul, I always wanted to be around the adults and because I was how I was, my notions were often entertained. I was a very happy child, but I probably should have heard the word "No" a bit more.

What is the earliest memory you hold as a child? My mother, she was so beautiful, all my teachers had a crush on her and she was just so charming.

What was it like growing up in your family? It was educating and loving. My mother and father came from two very different backgrounds.

What religion did you belong to as a child? Catholic

When I Was A Child:

My favorite thing to do was: Ride my Arabian Akim

At home I was expected to: I was over indulged, as long as my grades were high I could do no wrong

My parents were strict about: My education

My parents taught me to value: Life...above all I was taught to live and love and do both well

What I loved most about my father was: His presence, he was old school Sicilian and was very intimidating at times

What I loved most about my mother was: Her Charm, everyone loves her

My favorite relatives were: GG (my great grandma from the south amazing cook

I loved to visit: everywhere, we traveled quite a bit

In comparison to others I was: Treated more on a adult level

Your Teenage Years:

Describe yourself as a teenager: This is where things got rough, my father passed in an auto accident. I fell in love my high school sweet heart and got pregnant very early, but it worked out. We are still together and so in love people assume we are a new couple. I believe things happen for a reason, although at first that reason is not apparent.

Describe your achievements: I maintained my education despite becoming a teen wife and mom, I never skipped a beat.

Did you do poorly at anything? Math, I just did not care for it, I knew I wanted to go into the medical field, and for that all I would need is basics and dosage calculation, all else seemed unreasonable.

Did you have any problems as a teenager: nothing besides what was mentioned above

What do you hope to achieve by volunteering in an egg donor program? (e.g., emotionally, financially):

What message would you like passed on to the recipient of your eggs/their offspring? I am so happy that this child is having a chance at life. I did not plan on having more kids, but the choice I have made has enabled you to have a life! Know that you are loved.

What helped you decide to become an egg donor? Research for a psychology paper

Do you consider yourself a reliable person? Do you consider yourself a punctual person? Yes, I am always there and early. Send your thank you to the Air Force ☺

Would you describe yourself as a religious or spiritual person? I consider myself spiritual, yet I was raised Catholic, I attend mass regularly and my children go to a private Catholic school.

Do you have any ethical, moral or religious reservations about being an egg donor? No, this process is a miracle!

What are your personal goals? Have you achieved any of these goals? I have achieved so much. I am updating this and since I updated last I have accomplished so much of what I sought to conquer. I am almost done with another degree. I recently went from enlisted military to an officer which was a huge promotion and something that took me many years to achieve. Right now I want to enjoy life and kids and explore each moment I have.

What do you see yourself doing in the next 5-10 years? I hope to be finished with my next degree which I just submitted an application to Vanderbilt University, Nurse Practitioner. I would like to practice as a Psychiatric NP. After working many years in emergency nursing and trauma nursing, I would like to transition to mental health and care for the veterans returning with PTSD, traumatic brain injury and other mental disorders.

What would you like your recipient couple to know about you that has not already been asked? Just call and ask if you want to know anything. I do not think you can get to know someone through a form, but I love chatting and would welcome a call or email. I am a great woman, but there are many amazing people. Pick the best one for your background. I wish you the very best on this challenging journey.

What is your favorite color? Green

Favorite type of food? Thai and Japanese, I love sashimi

Favorite movie? Schindler's List

Favorite type of music? Oldies Doo Wop, and R&B

Favorite Book? I cannot make a choice, I soak up books like a sponge, I will read anything and everything and love it.

Would you be willing to donate to gay or single prospective parents? Of course, this holds no influence over who I choose to help.

Would you be willing to meet a child conceived as the result of your donation? Yes, but it is up to the child's parents, please keep in mind the feelings of the child. I am here if you ever need me.

Would you be interested in possibly meeting the prospective parents? Of course, if they are comfortable with a meeting.

What are your beliefs concerning selective reduction or aborting a fetus due to an anomaly(s) (birth defect)?

I do not condone selective reduction, multiples are an event that can occur and that someone would be ready for. However as a nurse that has worked in the Neonatal Intensive Care unit I have seen devastating birth defects, raising a child that is disabled is truly a challenge and lifelong commitment that many are not prepared and never can be prepared for. I feel that this is a very personal issue and something only the potential parents can truly discuss and agree upon. What a heart breaking choice.

How do you feel about the possibility of any remaining embryos being donated to another infertile couple that cannot afford the cost of infertility treatment? Will you sign a consent permitting such donation?

No, this is a gift from me to the parents I am giving the gift too.

How do you feel about any remaining embryos being discarded or donated to scientific research? Will you sign a consent permitting such medical or scientific research?

No

Some clinics have their Prospective Parents sign away rights to any left over embryos to be used at the clinic's discretion, how do you feel about not knowing the outcome of their decision?

Not acceptable

What are your thoughts on the possibility of this couple using a gestational carrier (surrogate) or a qualified sperm donor?

Both my donations have used Carriers; feel whatever is best and healthiest to bring a baby into this world

CONSENT FORM

Under the penalty of perjury, I attest that all of the information I have provided in my donor application is true and complete to the best of my knowledge. I also have a good understanding of the commitment involved in the egg donation process.
